without realizing many believers are trying to walk out their God-given call by depending solely on their own talents and their own abilities according to Shipman in doing so they are becoming spiritually frustrated in their endeavor to please God this volume discusses how God provides the anointing and the ability to become all that He has created Christians to be practical life the relationship of god's grace and man's free will is one of the most disputed topics in the history of catholic theology at the time of the counter reformation a famous quarrel arose between jesuit defenders of molina and dominican defenders of bañez this led to a series of roman congregations on the aids of god's grace de auxiliis which looked into the matter but settled very little beyond the pope declaring that neither position was heretical leo xiii's call to advance thomism led to this quarrel resurfacing with renewed force in the first quarter of the twentieth century into this fray stepped a renowned dominican of the university of fribourg francisco marín sola 1873 1932 whose published work on the development of catholic doctrine had secured his fame among catholic theologians in three celebrated articles published in the ciencia tomista in 1925 and 1926 he presented a new and revised version of the dominican position on this question marín sola suggested that his new version rightly developed the principles of aquinas and was supported in major part if only implicitly by earlier dominican commentators marín sola's position was instantly controversial with some respondents decrying an abandonment of dominican ideas and others declaring that marín sola had resolved central objections and ended the quarrel of de auxiliis in this book michael d torre makes marín sola's articles available in english for the first time the articles are preceded by an introduction on marín sola and followed by a conclusion that traces the reception of his thought within the catholic theological community in torre's afterword he defends marín sola's position as substantively the same as that of aquinas about the author michael d torre associate professor of philosophy at the university of san francisco is author of god's permission of sin and editor of freedom in the modern world torre is president of the american maritain association and serves as general editor of ama publications the present study had its origins long ago in a doctorate thesis presented at the university of cambridge the work has been considerably enlarged in scope if not in bulk but has always been conceived as a whole nicole's thought is in any case remarkably coherent i make use of articles of mine published in french studies for april 1960 and july 1967 and my thanks are due to the general editor of that journal for permission to do so i owe a great debt of gratitude to dr m g wallas who guided my researches in the early years the penetration and lucidity of her criticism were equalled only by her kindness and patience to mr n j abercrombie who had himself worked on nicole for a number of years i am deeply grateful for the gift of books notes and analyses probably every section of this study owes something to his work hints of the importance of the influence on nicole of st fran ois de sales proving particularly fruitful one of the most pleasant moments in the course of my researches was spent at the rijksarchief in utrecht to the staff of which and to dr aj van de yen keeper of the archives of the oud bisschoppelijke clerezij i am much indebted for their kind help may 1971 e d j so many people think that grace and mercy is basically the same word and can be used interchangeably but they represent different concepts all together mercy flows out of grace and is an aspect of grace but grace is so much more than mercy grace has nothing to do with overlooking and tolerating weakness grace has to do with god's total restoration and enablement of us to overcome the fall of adam and all its consequences the grace of god represents the complete work of redemption from the incarnation to the ascension it is all a powerful display of the grace of god in order to deliver us and break us out of bondage grace sets us free grace is god's sufficiency to enable us to overcome all contradiction everything god is and everything available to us in him is an outflow of that grace the full content of his heart towards us beyond dordt and de auxiliis explores post reformation inter confessional theological exchange on soteriological topics including predestination grace and free choice these doctrines remained controversial within confessional traditions after the reformation as dominicans and jesuits and later calvinists and arminians argued about these critical issues in the augustinian theological heritage some of those involved in condemning arminianism at the synod of dordt 1618 1619 were inspired by dominican followers of thomas aquinas in spain who had recently opposed the vigorous defense of free choice by jesuit molinists in the congregatio de auxiliis 1598 1607 this volume appearing on the 400th anniversary of the closing of the synod of dordt brings together a group of scholars working in fields that only rarely speak to one another to address these theological debates that cross geographical and confessional boundaries

how can an all loving god choose some people for eternal salvation while permitting others to fall away doesn t god offer the same amount of saving grace to everyone isn t predestination a protestant doctrine in the mystery of predestination author and apologist john salza seeks to answer these questions and others about that most ineffable and confounding of christian beliefs that god chooses to infallibly direct certain people to salvation but not others drawing deeply upon scripture sacred tradition and the writings of st thomas aquinas salza says that a proper catholic understanding of the doctrine of predestination is interconnected with two other central mysteries the ability of mankind to choose freely to accept or reject god s saving grace and the inability of mankind to accept god s grace without first being moved by his grace from within by holding these truths always before us we can see how god may predestine his elect to heaven but never desire that anyone go to hell we can also achieve a new clarity and depth of insight into a profound christian truth god is the primary mover in salvation it is he who chooses seeks and saves us meticulously researched and written in a scholarly yet accessible style the mystery of predestination is perfect for the serious catholic who is confused by bible verses or magisterial statements in favor of predestination and never hears about it in sunday sermons or who wants to defend catholic truth against calvinist error and is seeking clear traditional and thomistic answers or indeed for any thoughtful christian who wants to come to terms with what the bible teaches about the fundamental truths of our salvation unconditionally loving sovereign over all how can god be sovereign over all things and loving towards all people while his creatures possess real freedom and responsibility for their choices theologians have wrestled with this question for centuries but have our attempted solutions made the problem worse in wonderful decree travis james campbell suggests we cannot solve the problem by sacrificing either divine sovereignty and goodness on one hand or human responsibility on the other while considering arminian and molinist alternatives he concludes that the traditional augustinian and calvinist approach best allows these truths to remain in a healthy and biblically faithful tension inspired by the example of spurgeon who preferred biblical mystery over human solutions campbell encourages readers to trust even delight in the harmony of god s love for all and sovereignty over all
