now in its third edition hendrik van den berg s international economics a heterodox approach covers all of the standard topics taught in undergraduate international economics courses written in a friendly and approachable style this new edition is unique in that it presents the key orthodox neoclassical models of international trade and investment while supplementing them with a variety of heterodox approaches this pluralist approach is intended to give economics students a more realistic understanding of the international economy than standard textbooks can provide. Changes to the new edition include updates throughout to reflect recent world events including coverage of trade negotiations and the Greek crisis, expanded discussion of pluralist approaches with more coverage of alternative schools of thought, discussions of the growing financialization of global economic activity, additional real world examples, increased coverage of environmental issues, transnational corporations and their behavior in the international economy, the difference between international investment and international finance and monetary history, a consolidated and updated chapter on international banking. This book also maintains a broad perspective that links economic activity to the social and natural spheres of human activity with emphasis on the distributional and environmental effects of international trade, investment, finance and migration. Chapter summaries, key terms and concepts, problems and questions, and a glossary are included in the book. A student study guide and an instructor's manual are available online.

In recent years, the tremendous growth of the service sector, including international trade in services, has outstripped that of manufacturing in many industrialized nations. As the importance of services has grown, economists have begun to focus on policy issues raised by them and have tried to understand what, if any, differences there are between production and delivery of goods and services. This volume is the first book-length attempt to analyze trade in services in the Asia Pacific region. Contributors provide overviews of basic issues involved in studying the service sector, investigate the impact of increasing trade in services on the economies of Taiwan, Korea, and Hong Kong, present detailed analyses of specific service sectors (telecommunications, financial services, international tourism, and accounting), and extend our understanding of trade in services beyond the usual concept measured in balance of payment statistics to include indirect services and services undertaken abroad by subsidiaries and affiliates.

This is one of the few books on the market dealing with offshoring of professional services, a dynamic phenomenon of high relevance in the global economy. The market for offshore services is worth more than 1 trillion dollars annually and employs millions of people. Global offshoring of services has been recently undergoing a profound transformation due to automation and robotisation of tasks. It can be associated with the increased codification of knowledge, commoditisation of services, and advancement in technology. The global perspective has been supplemented by a detailed analysis of offshoring in central and eastern Europe. It witnesses a dynamic growth of foreign direct investment (FDI) in professional services, resulting in capital and knowledge transfers. This book is a result of a holistic approach and an interdisciplinary research. It is enriched with conclusions from meetings with representatives of authorities responsible for attracting FDI, associations of offshoring firms, and enterprises operating in professional services. It was also a result of numerous discussions with scholars during academic conferences and research seminars.
