in today s africa racism and ethnicity have been implicated in serious conflicts from egypt to mali to south africa that have cost lives and undermined efforts to achieve national cohesion and meaningful development racism ethnicity and the media in africa sets about rethinking the role of media and communication in perpetuating reinforcing and reining in racism absolute ethnicity and other discriminations across africa it goes beyond the customary discussion of media racism and ethnic stereotyping to critically address broader issues of identity belonging and exclusion topics covered include racism in south african newspapers pluralist media debates in kenya media discourses on same sex relations in uganda and ethnicised news coverage in nigerian newspapers christianity among the african people whether on the soil of africa or in diaspora is perceived and defined differently by different people for instance among african traditional religious people and muslims christianity is a foreign religion that must not be allowed to thrive in africa to several africans who profess jesus christianity is good but it is not adequate and effective enough to handle all human needs still among some western christians and missionaries african christianity is superficial and lacks total commitment to christ of course the africans are a cultural people with profound religious inclinations their traditional religion atr has tremendously shaped their worldviews and socioeconomic and political activities consequently when traditional africans are converted to christianity they do not break ties with their traditional religions completely the examination of relevant biblical texts on syncretism however reveals that god condemns the worship of many gods and places a curse on anyone who offers sacrifices to carved images and bows to them in worship therefore this work investigates the root cause of religious syncretism among african people in the attempt to find answers to why the average african christian finds it difficult if not impossible to abandon his her traditional religious belief systems completely to embrace christianity the author concludes that unless the issues surrounding the african forgotten and secret covenants are exposed and decisively addressed in the light of biblical teaching syncretism will continue to be a stigma on the fabric of african christianity therefore to overcome the threats of syncretism in african christianity there is a need to establish a sound theological and missiological framework that can address the problems associated with the african worldviews and belief systems this task must be carried out under the searchlight of scriptures this book examines how moralities of distribution and redistribution operate and intertwine in everyday african economic life enhancing current understandings of capitalism on the continent through rich ethnographic studies spanning eight countries ghana nigeria burkina faso equatorial guinea ethiopia uganda kenya and zimbabwe the volume reveals how these moral perspectives of right and wrong connect macro political economies with micro level social norms and expectations as debates about economic inequality intensify globally this timely work illuminates how african actors navigate complex re distributional dynamics duties and pressures in contemporary capitalist contexts the contributors provide nuanced analyses of socioeconomic inequalities that often remain obscured in scholarly and public discourse making a significant contribution to the growing field of moral economy research in africa and beyond this book is essential reading for scholars of african studies economic anthropology political economy development studies and anyone interested in understanding how moral frameworks shape economic relations practices and outcomes across diverse african settings the chapters in this book were originally published in journal of contemporary african studies witch camps and witchcraft discourse in africa critiquing development practices explores how local development interventions related to witchcraft in africa intersect and conflict with globally accepted development practices this book argues that development practitioners need to pay attention to what concepts like witchcraft and occult mean to local people and provides a nuanced account of how different development actors conceptualize and approach development in africa through communities of refuge matthew mabefam invites development practitioners to be open to culturally sensitive solutions to social inequalities rather than dismissing them and acting in ways that may further aggravate the challenges faced by individuals accused of witchcraft the foundational knowledge for the book is derived from ongoing ethnographic fieldwork in gnani in northern ghana a rural community that provides refuge for people who have been banished from their communities and is deeply informed by the author s experiences of growing up and working within refuge communities in ghana this book contributes to the decolonization of development epistemes knowledge and practices and contributes to a better understanding of the limits of the neo liberal paradigm of socio
