why does life in society make us so unhappy why has civilization always been marked with social unrest from the time of plato our greatest thinkers have understood that in order to confront the ills of the city one must first look to the individual to the maladies and discontents of the human soul in this novel reading of plato s republic the insights of nietzsche and freud are brought to bear on one of western civilization s most important texts but what is at stake is far more than our interpretation of the republic city of man will leave readers better equipped to face the crises that confront us today by reintroducing the import of that oft quoted but rarely practiced delphic maxim know thyself political decay in islamic societies has for the most part been the subject of structural analyses while philosophical studies have been rare often speculative and deterministic thoughtlessness and decadence in iran explores from a theoretical perspective the problem of democracy deficit or political decadence in contemporary iran and by implication in present day middle eastern societies this decadence the book argues is in part a religion based decadence and deliverance from it requires collective thoughtfulness about religion alireza shomali conceptualizes the iranian reality in terms of a lack of not only good life but also thinking of good living this thoughtlessness means dissolution of critical consciousness and as such it heralds escalating decadence at this moment of rapid decay the book argues thought must become relevant to society the communicative practice of thinking must emerge to examine the pathologies of a religiously administrated life opening a dialogue between adorno strauss farabi and razi among others shomali underlines the critical points of similarity and difference between these thinkers and envisions a local emancipatory project that noting the specifics of the iranian case takes lessons from the western experience without blind imitation by scrutinizing the major victorian political thinkers perceptions and representations of france this book shows how comparisons with the country on the other side of the channel its politics civilization and the french national character contributed to nineteenth century britain s self definition while the utterances on france of several other figures are also examined the main focus is on walter bagehot john stuart mill matthew arnold lord acton thomas carlyle nassau william senior james fitzjames stephen william rathbone greg thomas babington macaulay john morley and frederic harrison
