the chinese is a unique literary form that manifests the extensive use of parallelism in the classic tradition calligraphers scholars officials and even emperors often wrote couplets not simply as art works but also as gifts important both for their aesthetic value and their social function these qing dynasty couplets as a whole represent the wealth of calligraphy of the period the 150 works in this catalog were exhibited at the art museum cuhk in march 207 they are the sequel to the double beauty catalog and exhibition organized in 2003

buddhist steles represent an important subset of early chinese buddhist art that flourished during the northern and southern dynasties period 386 581 more than two hundred chinese buddhist steles are known to have survived their brilliant imagery has long captivated scholars yet until now the buddhist stele as a unique art form has received little scholarly attention dorothy wong rectifies that insufficiency by providing in this well illustrated volume the first comprehensive investigation of this group of buddhist monuments she traces the ancient roots of the chinese stele tradition and investigates the process by which chinese steles were adapted for buddhist use she arranges the known corpus of buddhist steles into broad chronological and regional groupings and analyzes not only their form and content but also the nexus of complex issues surrounding this art form from cultural symbolism to the interrelations between religious doctrine and artistic expression economic production patronage and the synthesis of native and foreign art styles in her analysis of buddhism s dialogue with native traditions wong demonstrates how the chinese artistic idiom planted the seeds for major achievements in figural and landscape arts in the ensuing sui and tang periods
