this groundbreaking study offers fresh insight into the relationship between radical theology and gender radicalism in the seventeenth century english revolution examining published works and previously unexplored archival material sarah apetrei shows the transformative role that women played in religious reform during the period the reformation was a seismic event in history whose consequences are still working themselves out in europe and across the world the protests against the marketing of indulgences staged by the german monk martin luther in 1517 belonged to a long standing pattern of calls for internal reform and renewal in the christian church but they rapidly took a radical and unexpected turn engulfing first germany and then europe as a whole in furious arguments about how god s will was to be saved however these debates did not remain confined to a narrow sphere of theology they came to reshape politics and international relations social cultural and artistic developments relations between the sexes and the patterns and performances of everyday life they were also the stimulus for christianity s transformation into a truly global religion as agents of the roman catholic church sought to compensate for losses in europe with new conversions in asia and the americas covering both protestant and catholic reform movements in europe and across the wider world this beautifully illustrated volume tells the story of the reformation from its immediate explosive beginnings through to its profound longer term consequences and legacy for the modern world the story is not one of an inevitable triumph of liberty over oppression enlightenment over ignorance rather it tells how a multitude of rival groups and individuals with or without the support of political power strove after visions of reform and how in spite of themselves they laid the foundations for the plural and conflicted world we now inhabit peter matheson has written the first study in english of the reformation as a literary phenomenon this book traces the first emergence of a public opinion in european history using insights from social history religion and literature professor matheson explores the connection between the communal reformation and the outpouring of pamphlets in the early 1520 s these pamphlets helped to create a dynamic and subversive network of communication where language and structure were of equal importance he also examines the relative strengths of polemical and dialogical approaches in winning adherents the motivations of the authors and the expectations of audiences this ground breaking study will be of interest to scholars and students of the history of the reformation theology and also of communication and literature this fascinating collection of primary source documents furnishes the accounts in their own words of those who initiated advanced or lived through the reformation starting in 1500 europe transformed from a united christendom into a continent bitterly divided between catholicism and protestantism by the end of the century this illuminating text reveals what happened during that period by presenting the social religious economic political and cultural life of the european reformation of the 16th century in the words of those who lived through it detailed and comprehensive the work includes 60 primary source documents that shed light on the character personalities and events of that time and provides context questions and activities for successfully incorporating these documents into academic research and reading projects a special section provides guidelines for better evaluating and understanding primary documents topics include late medieval religion martin luther reformation in germany and the peasants war the rise of calvinism and the english reformation oberman s magisterial work transfers discussion of late medieval christian thought from the private studies of the specialist to more general use and understanding and explains the significance of the ideas of the time although this late medieval reader does not exhaust the riches of the period between the high middle ages and the reformation era it introduces the reader to aspects of such major themes as conciliarism curialism mysticism scholasticism the spirituality of the devotio moderna and the impact of renaissance humanism the theme of the forerunners has grown out of the consideration that the justified rejection of a confessional reading of the past has been succeeded by an equally unhistorical disjunction of the medieval and reformation periods without a grasp of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries the medieval basis of modern thought is incomplete since reformation and counter reformation seem to arise out of the blue burning pyres nuns on the run stirring courage and comic relief the protestant reformation is a gripping tale packed with drama but what motivated the reformers and what were they really like the unquenchable flame a lively accessible and fully informative introduction to the reformation by michael reeves brings to life the movement s most colorful characters martin luther ulrich zwingli john calvin the puritans etc examines their ideas and shows the profound and personal relevance of reformation thinking for today also included are a lengthy reformation timeline a map of key places in the reformation further reading suggestions and in this u s edition a new foreword by 9 marks ministries president mark dever
