when leo xii promulgated aeterni patris in 1879 he stipulated that the leonine or official edition of the summa should always be printed in conjunction with cajetan s commentary for five hundred years they were studied together generations were trained by reading through the summa article by article with cajetan s commentaries in hand early printed editions of the summa typically included them in a talmudic arrangement as marginal text running around each article by aquinas this edition imitates that example recently serious thinkers of all denominations and none have found new reasons to be interested in st thomas his text is deceptively simple yet important issues are handled in every article sometimes below the surface cajetan extracts these hidden issues and explains and elaborates on them with remarkable affinity to modern analytical philosophy part of that affinity lies in the use of modal logic a tool whose importance was overlooked between the renaissance and the twentieth century the time is ripe for an analytically inspired translation of thomas hence this volume never until now has cajetan s commentary been put into english in its entirety william marshner s translation is consistent with fidelity to the technical force of the original the translator s footnotes acknowledge what empirical science has made obsolete in the work of st thomas and also make clear how much today s science would have saved thomas useless labor this volume will for the first time make cajetan s help available to the modern reader interreligious dialogue that strives for both hospitality and honest discussion of difference is it possible to have both is it possible for religious traditions to engage one another in a spirit of humility while also working together toward mutual descriptions of god and the world this is the goal of this book to find points at which each of the religious traditions are vulnerable and open enough to listen to each other and to help each other toward a shared description of reality if you share these concerns concerns for interfaith dialogue as well as for deeply held notions of conviction and truth then the invitation is open for mutual constructive engagement
