this volume collects some of the papers presented at the 16th iartem conference held in florence in april 2022 it was a difficult conference held at a time when the pandemic was still present and therefore an important opportunity to resume a dialogue that seemed to have been interrupted the richness of the content which is the result of the reflections of authors from all over the world allows us to provide a precise scenario of the research state of art in the field of textbooks and digital resources for teaching this book is about new forms of religiosity and religious activity emerging in the context of their dialectic relations with contemporary multicultural realities world religions are effectively a major agent of the multiculturalization of contemporary societies however multiculturalism pushes them not only toward change and reforms but also toward new conflicts between and within them this process should remind us of the jewish legend of the golem an animated being created by man which finally challenges the latter s control over it a dialectic relation indeed world religions today greatly contribute to a world dis order that is multicultural both when viewed as a whole and from within most societies that compose it it is a development that contrasts both with the assumption that globalization implies one way homogenization and convergence to western modernity and the expectation that globalization would be bound to polarize homogeneous civilizations security based approach to development sba is a new vision to development by addressing security and development issues simultaneously it merges the global security issues with the rights based and needs based approaches the book provides an in depth analysis of identity and power in today s context identity and security issues are two sides of the coin sba has recognized the issue of personal identification as a pre requisite to empowerment analysis attributes the deteriorating law and order rigged elections corruption socioeconomic disparity harboring of terrorists lack of transparency and poor governance to lack of personal identification systems the book stresses that unless the development investments and insecurity issues are addressed simultaneously the global development agenda will be further delayed no room for grace addresses a world dominated by free market capitalism a world where persons become human resources the raw materials for competitive production and profitable investment barbara rumscheidt considers how christians are to do pastoral theology in such a world and explores the potential for christian faith responses that can resist the dehumanizing dynamics of the global economy this volume comprises an edited selection of papers which were originally presented at the 9th international conference of the history of adult education that was held in september 2002 the theme of that conference and this volume addresses the key dynamics associated with the impact of globalisation upon both the historical and contemporary development of the organisation of adult learning following a general introduction to the key themes by the chief editor the first section of the volume comprises a number of papers of a distinctly historical nature the focus in this section is upon the development of organised adult learning as a major component of the european modernisation project from the enlightenment period in the eighteenth century to the twentieth century the second section examines contemporary developments and the emergence of new forms for the organisation of adult learning in the learning society the emphasis here is upon those societal developments that contribute to the centrality of lifelong learning in current education and training policies the third section comprises a number of country studies focused upon the dilemmas associated with the restructuring of national education and training policies issues of social inclusion and the risk of exclusion form the recurring theme of these country studies strategy has emerged as a watchword of modern change efforts calls to be strategic are sounded in the private sector government philanthropy and the not for profit sectors management experts stress the importance of strategic thinking change agents are urged to act strategically strategic planning has long been a mainstay of organizational development leaders in all sectors talk not about theories of change or logic models but about being strategic strategic thinking strategic planning strategic results being strategic strategy execution effective strategies adapting strategically and now evaluating strategy but strategy is a new unit of analysis for evaluation traditionally evaluation has focused on projects programs products policies and personnel what does it mean to treat strategy as the evaluation focus as the thing evaluated what is strategy how does one evaluate strategy what are the implications of this new direction for evaluation theory methods practice and ultimately use this issue examines these questions and provides examples of strategy focused evaluations evaluating strategy is not about evaluating strategic planning or even strategic plans it s about evaluating strategy itself strategy is the evaluand that poses new challenges and offers new opportunities to meet the information needs of evaluation users for evaluation to be relevant to decision makers and leaders the focus of the evaluation must be on what they are concerned about and what they care about increasingly they care about identifying and implementing effective strategies that s where evaluation enters the picture evaluating strategy has the purpose of making strategy more effective differentiating effective from ineffective strategies and contributing to the ongoing development and adaptation of strategy in response to changing conditions and real world complexities evaluating strategy is a new direction for evaluation one that is likely to take on increasing importance if evaluators learn to do it well this issue takes up that challenge this is the 128th volume of the jossey bass quarterly report series new directions for evaluation an official publication of the american evaluation association the notion of globalisation and its relation to education is widely being discussed among politicians philosophers scholars educators and students throughout the world some fully reject and refuse to accept this phenomenon others try to understand and accept this notion still others completely accept the idea of globalisation and associate with it all progressive changes in the new century's socio cultural and educational space moreover for a considerable part of the planet's residents the very spirit of the terms globalism and globalisation still remains an unknown enigmatic almost supernatural entity the contemporary globalising epoch is characterised by pervasive events making a considerable affect on human development human consciousness and on various aspects of education and child development information and knowledge the digitisation of information and virtualisation of objective reality the spreading of the english language as an essential global tool for education and international communication the dissemination of the ideas of global and multicultural education the rise of the european union the market orientation of russian and the former entities of the former socialist block the spreading of the cultural and educational canons of the anglo american or atlantic civilisation upon other cultures and civilisations and unparalleled demographic growth especially in eastern and southern cultures this book tries to bridge the gap between science and environmental education by describing a set of projects initiatives and field activities which aim at raising awareness on the environment and encourage action the various case studies guarantee that a special emphasis is given to practice as opposed to just theory using an embeddedness approach this volume analyzes how different forms of organization and market exchange systems function and co evolve in contrast to views that assume that pure markets or autonomous states guide change the embeddedness approach argues that the social networks and institutions within which economic action is embedded provide economic order by identifying consequential types of social structures the essays in this volume advance our understanding of how exchange systems originate and change the contributions of prominent scholars from europe asia and america testify to the embeddedness approach's inclusive theoretical appeal wide audience base and contribution to the problem of how social networks institutions and culture affect organizational adaptation and the economic status of individuals in economies in transition this book offers both a critical discourse and regional perspectives on the major challenges for promoting human security in a post 9 11 world hiv aids is holding firm as one of the worst diseases in history and the leading cause of death in sub saharan africa this collection of essays shares various case studies from sub saharan africa and one from the african diaspora that demonstrate how multi faceted women's lives and thus their hiv risk are notwithstanding women's marginalisation the essays in this volume maintain that women in africa are not merely puppets of globalisation cultural norms or biological imperatives but rather agents in their own livelihoods in each case we see women presented with many challenges that they must navigate in order to mitigate their hiv risk some of the most trying challenges are based on economic and political structures that occur at various scales from the global to the household while structural factors are indeed important the authors in this volume also show that traditional norms cultural beliefs and gender roles are equally necessary to consider when planning hiv prevention programs gender disempowerment is of particular importance as it is seen in all of these case studies in order for the hiv epidemic to dissipate in sub saharan africa prevention programs that truly understand the local circumstances and strive for gender equality must be instituted immediately and broadly the book is divided into three parts each concentrating on a different aspect of women and hiv aids in sub saharan africa the first part provides case studies of the social political economic cultural and geographic dynamics that play into women s and girls risk for the virus the second part transitions into case studies of prevention concentrating on condom use the chapters in the final section expand on part ii by highlighting other ways of promoting hiv aids awareness and prevention across the region in short the papers in this volume highlight the complicated decision making processes that women in countries of sub saharan africa must make when it comes to hiv risk in many cases women find themselves in economically dependent relationships with men whereby they must stay in sexually risky situations to be able to feed themselves and very often their children
