the jurisprudence of the international court of justice generally demonstrates that no rule of international law can be interpreted and applied without regard to its innate values and the basic principles of human rights through its case law the icj has made immense contributions to the development of human rights law and in so doing continues to provide solutions to mounting international problems such as terrorism and unilateral use of force part i of the book argues that the legislative spirit of contemporary international law lies in the doctrine of human rights and that the spirit of human rights doctrine lies in the principle of human dignity furthermore it argues that the processes of international legislation and international adjudication are inseparable and that there is no norm of international law which does not intertwine the fundamental principle of human dignity with human rights doctrine hence human rights law is more a school of law than merely a normative branch of international law and the icj s willingness to engage in the development of human rights law depends upon which judicial ideology its judges subscribe to in order to evaluate how this human rights spirit is manifested or occasionally not manifested

this textbook provides a thorough and systematic overview of human rights law including the most relevant practice and case law but also dealing with theoretical issues it pursues an original approach seeking to reconcile its didactic purpose with a scientific one positing that there must be a necessary synergy between these two purposes furthermore the author is convinced that international human rights law should not be studied as is done in virtually every textbook as a special legal regime separate and autonomous from the overall system of international law but as a regime that is fully integrated into the international legal order the book s dominant theme is the interrelationship of international human rights law and general international law following this approach the author has chosen to devote comparatively little content to institutional issues part iv and to
